

Model of Human Occupation

Archived List Serv Discussion

MOHO-based group interventions?

November 9, 2012

Dear all,

I am trying to get an overview of the use of groups in occupational therapy interventions - particularly for, but not restricted to, mental health populations. Is anyone familiar with persons/publications describing and/or evaluating MOHO-based group interventions? I would be happy to hear from you.

Best wishes,
Tore

November 9, 2012

Dear Tore,

You may find a study we published recently useful. Below is the reference:

Dugow H, Connolly D (2012). Exploring impact of Independent Living Programme (ILP) on activity participation of elderly with chronic conditions. International Journal of Therapy and Rehabilitation 19(3): 154-162

Regards

Hassan Dugow

November 10, 2012

And one more:

Ziv, N. & Roitman, D.M. (2008). Addressing the needs of elderly clients whose lives have been compounded by Traumatic histories. Occupational Therapy in Health Care, 22 (2-3) 85-93.

Deborah Roitman.

November 16, 2012

Dear Tore

You may find the following paper helpful regarding effectiveness of Group Work in community mental health.

Bannigan, K. and Bullock, A. (2011) Effectiveness of Activity-Based Group Work in Community Mental Health: A Systematic Review. American Journal of Occupational Therapy 65(3), 257-266.

Best Wishes,
Mary